Mac integration services features:

Mac® infrastructure is highly interoperable. From printers and scanners, to speakers and webcams, external drives and monitors, you won't need to replace all of your hardware in a Mac integration.

Important files all are accessible from a Mac. The documents you created using Microsoft productivity software will still be available from your Mac, eliminating the need to convert all your information into new file formats. In fact, you even can run the Microsoft® Windows® OS from your Mac computer if needed.

Enhanced security in Mac OS means your organization will no longer be susceptible to the viruses that can affect PC infrastructure. You can feel confident that your company's important information is confidential.

Friendly user support is available through the AppleCareSM service, eliminating the need to hunt for a reliable PC-repair company. And due to Apple's superior software design, computer problems are minimal.
