

Adobe Enterprise Term License Agreement for commercial and government organizations

This customized 3-year agreement is the ideal way for a large organization to meet its unique needs.

“With Adobe Creative Cloud for enterprise, we can quickly and easily add employees to projects as needed, keeping us focused on delivering great results for clients, rather than worrying about costs.”

*Kartic Srinivasan,
Senior Vice President,
Zadpro*

With an Adobe Enterprise Term License Agreement (ETLA), a large organization can purchase and deploy Adobe software in an efficient, targeted and cost-effective manner. No surprises—just 3 years of productivity and budget maximization.

Predictable budgeting for 3 years.

Once software subscription needs are defined, an organization makes three predictable annual payments on a set anniversary date. Customize your ETLA even more: Purchase a set number of licenses for a single office or specific business need, or create an agreement to deploy licenses throughout your enterprise during the term.*

Get the right tools in the right hands.

An ETLA can include a full range of Adobe apps, tools and services: Adobe Creative Cloud for enterprise, which includes the world's best creative apps; Adobe Document Cloud for enterprise; Adobe Captivate; Adobe Presenter and more.

Always have the latest version of the software you need.

With ETLA, you can standardize on Adobe products for a 3-year period, which means your employees are always up to date. They get the latest versions and updates of the Adobe software covered under your agreement. IT administrators can easily manage license compliance and download available software quickly and easily from one central location.

Easy to deploy. Easy to manage.

With ETLA, it's easy to deploy apps and services—per user, per group, or across the enterprise—using centralized deployment tools. Named-user deployment through the Adobe Enterprise Dashboard allows you to build customized deployment packages and apply the latest updates when your organization is ready.
