

Top 5 Reasons to Centralize Your Multiple Location IT Management

Managing technology across multiple locations can be costly and complex. Centralizing these operations brings a number of benefits that can make a big difference to your business and your bottom line.

Here are 5 reasons you should start thinking about centralizing, consolidating, and simplifying.

01

Your IT costs are out of control

When you have costs coming from all over the place, it's an uphill battle to predict and control them. Choosing Zones as your one-stop-shop for technology and managed services simplifies management, reduces costs associated with multiple vendors, and lets you take advantage of volume discounts.

You can't see clearly into your technology systems

Lack of visibility into your IT solutions can derail coordinated technology deployment, introduce inefficiency, and lead to escalating costs. Zones brings the best technology to your business, helping you get the visibility you need across all your stores with a single point of view and allowing you to sync data, monitor networks and technology, and stop any issues before they start.

02

03

Aging technology is bogging you down

Out-of-date technology slows down operations and results in lost time, opportunity, and revenue. But choosing and deploying the right technology can be a major challenge. At Zones, we are change champions, using our expertise to help you find modern solutions that work for you now and into the future — and we implement them quickly and cost-effectively.

04

Misaligned workflows have you in a tangle

Over time, a hodgepodge of processes, technologies, and devices can collect in stores or locations. Not only does this create inefficiency, it negatively impacts the customer experience. We specialize in solving these kinds of problems. We help you modernize your in-store systems, streamline operations, and introduce user-friendly devices that will empower your staff to provide outstanding customer service with each interaction.

05

Managing mobile devices

Mobile devices are critical to doing business across your organization. You need robust management to make sure they remain valuable assets and not liabilities. We take a proactive approach to helping you monitor and safeguard your mobile devices, optimizing security, compliance, and control, while reducing costs, risk, and downtime across your mobile network.

Centralize with Zones

At Zones, we help you simplify IT with solutions that address problems today and smooth your way to a digital tomorrow. We make sure we understand your needs and leverage our experience and expertise to help you crystallize a customized strategy, take effective action, and build your future with a big-picture view.

See what we can do for you